Alan,

I don't know what Custom Photo's prices are.

I've been doing some high resolution scans, and some look OK. I don't attempt color adjustment, but I can select "film type", which seems to affect color. A shot I did with Kodak Gold came out good, but some recent shots I did with Fuji 100 came out completely different. They were sunset-on-the-beach pictures, and the gold/orange reflection of the sun on the water and sand was completely lost. I'd like to see if you can take my scan and restore the true color.

I have one more scan I want to do before I bring them over. Are you going to be around tomorrow during the day?

Steve
