Alan,

Larry Carr of Dancing Crane is working on my photos. He is going to use my negatives, and he seemed confident he could match the color in the snapshots. Sounds too good to be true. We shall see. He is doing 4x6 proofs, and they will be ready early next week. I took them in on Thursday.

I've done only one double mat, and it was the first mat I did. I don't have any tricks for making it come out right. I suppose you could start with double-stick tape on just one side. If it is wrong, rip it apart. If it is OK, lift up and add more tape. It shouldn't take much tape to hold the 2 mats together. What are you putting in your 18x24 frame?

We went to garage sales this morning and picked up a couple more frames. Nothing special. Last Saturday, I got a really nice one for $2.

Have you had the acupuncture yet?

I've got 2 8x10s and 2 11x14s framed. 3 of them are the Ludington beach sunset picture. I also have a 2-picture frame in which I've got 5x7s of the 2 Ludington beach sunset pictures.
