

December 19, 2006

Tom and Kelli,

It was getting late, so I just wrote Tom a check for $150 and put it in the mail today.

We haven't had snow for 2 weeks. At the Christmas party for Carol's extended family Sunday, the kids played outside. It has been in the forties and fifties, cooler today, but sunny. None of our usual winter waterfowl have shown up yet on the river. Must be they've got plenty of open water up north.

We are darn near ready for Christmas. All my shopping is done. I've been wrapping gifts today.

If you have any slides or negatives you want scanned, I can do it for you. I have a film scanner.

We wish you, Tyler and Witni a happy Christmas.

Steve and Carol

--- Kelli Ayed <kelliayed@gmail.com> wrote:

> Steve,
>
> Well, this has been challenging!
>
> Tyler wants an X-Box 360 and a Pocket Rocket, Witni > wants books and jewelry, > but said as far as a family gift she doesn't care, > really. Tom and I > thought games that we could all play and enjoy would > be great. Three games > that come to mind are Guess Who?, Clue and Scrabble.
> I saw they were all on > Amazon. That's the only idea we could come up with,
> and I'm sorry it took > so long.
>
> I hope you and Carol are having fun getting ready > for Christmas. Have you > been getting a lot of snow?
>
> I've been working on getting old photos scanned and > hope to have something > put together to send out to everyone soon.
>
> Love & Hugs,
>

```
> Kelli
>
```