

Laura,

I don't remember just what the story was about the trail up the cliff, other than it got washed out. I do hope they are more careful in the future to make sure Serena knows where she is going.

We had a nice, steady rain all morning too, and I am pleased - I applied about 6 pounds of nitrogen to my yard yesterday afternoon, along with a bag of grub poison.

Why are you trapping raccoons? What are they getting into?

Were you ever able to run the videos of the trip?

Steve

--- laura barden <lauragrace56@yahoo.com> wrote:

> STEVE!

>

> THE TRIP STUFF IS GETTING BETTER EVERY DAY!

>

> I OPENED MY LETTER FROM SUE, AND WASN'T VERY HAPPY > WITH THE WAY THEY SAID SERENA "MISSED: THE TRAIL.
> SEEMS LIKE GRANT WOULD HAVE GONE OVER IT WITH HER > BEFOREHAND, SINCE IT WAS SO "WASHED AWAY" THAT WE > DIDN'T GO IN THAT WAY! REMEMBER? THEY REVERSED THE > HIKE FOR THAT REASON, I THOUGHT.

>

> ANYWAY, I GAVE HER ALL MY SUPPORT. AND POINTED > OUT THAT SHE WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR US MORE THAN 50% OF > THE HIKE. I'VE BEEN TALKING IT TRIP UP, AND MAY > HAVE A FEW PEOPLE INTERESTED IT TRYING IT ANOTHER > TIME.

>

> NICE RAIN THIS MORNING. I MAY CLEAN HOUSE. THE > FARM WORK IS IN PRETTY GOOD SHAPE.

>

> LAURA

>

> Steve Harry <steve_harry@yahoo.com> wrote:

> On my website (www.stevieharryssite.com), I now > have > all of Bill's and Walter's photos, a bunch of mine, > a > selection of Ed's, and a link to all 268 of Ed's.

>

> Steve

>