Lois,

Mom is going to have a pacemaker installed tomorrow morning under local anesthesia and expects to be back home by evening. The doctor told her she'd be able to dance at the wedding. She's at the South Haven hospital. Cindy and Megan are going to make sure she has a dress to wear. She never did get comfortable with email and her computer. I doesn't help that she has dial-up rather than a high-speed connection. Didn't want to spend the money.
