Just a couple of days ago, we finally finished up the green beans you gave us. We ate them every night and really enjoyed them.

I did not send a copy of the article to Mom. I didn't even cut it out. Guess I'd better.

I'm not that excited about the election, because I'm going to get beat pretty bad. It is hard to get your message out without money, and I got less than $200 in contributions. And my message wouldn't have gone over well with a lot of voters anyway. I went door-to-door a bit, but now it's too hot for that. Now I've been calling voters and asking them to check out my website.

All this rain has been great for our yard. It was looking so bad in early May that I wanted to cry, but now it's lush and green. And we've got a lot of flowers in our gardens and pots.

We have grandchildren here today - Dawn and her 3 year old Gavin and 1 year old Jenna. Jenna is about the same age as Kate. She stands, but is not walking yet.
