To Tom and Amy

We rented Synecdoche, New York. As a Charlie Kaufman fan, I was disappointed. Maybe it was over my head, but I doubt it. Too weird and not interesting enough to sit through, although we managed to do so. There were a few laughs at the beginning - I always enjoy watching someone have a seizure - but the rest wasn't much fun and was hard to make sense of.

I watched Being John Malkovitz again a while ago and it seemed longer than I remember. Overdone, maybe. But it blew me away the first time I saw it.
