Amy, I got your package today. Thanks! Too bad Carol is on a diet - I'll have to eat it all myself.

I've always put my address on my website. On my campaign website, I needed an address to which people could send campaign contributions, and I didn't want to use a P.O. box because I'd then have to drive to the Post Office to get my mail. Turns out it didn't matter. Nobody sent me anything.

We've had a lot of rain here and everything is lush and green. We've got Carolina wrens nesting in the bow of our canoe and we had 2 young doves hanging around our deck for nearly 2 weeks getting fed by their mother.

Are you taking your Tamoxifen? How is that going?

Did you ever get a new laptop? I'd advise against a wide screen. That is what we've got, and although we love the laptop, we don't need the wide screen. All it is good for is playing movies, and we've got the TV for that. So wide screen just makes the laptop bulkier. Actually, I do have a reason for wide screen – it shows me how my web pages look on other people's wide screens: all stretched out. So now I've made adjustments to make them look OK on wide screen as well as regular.

Love, Dad
