

Sunday night

Hello---

----here I am again!

So what is new in my present home is the order of the day I suppose and the only answer seems to be final exams this week. Personally I am rather glad, I don't know whether it is me or the courses but I am rather disappointed in most of them. Maybe it is because I expected too much. I do think the nursing classes should have been interesting but I don't think I ever went to a single one of them with a feeling of anticipation. I think if I ever go on to finish up and get my certificate that I'll try and go to Western Reserve at Cleveland, in fact, I know I will unless they get a new head in the Public Health Nursing department here.

I have an idea that I'll enjoy my field work in Detroit. It will be very different than anything I have ever done before and will require more action and ingenuity.

I spent most of today in bed with cramps but I would rather have it be today than tomorrow with two exams.

We went to the hockey game last night and watched Minnesota beat Michigan, I guess I must be a jinx. Friday we are going to see the Ohio State-Michigan basketball game. Being a student up here sure has its advantages as far as paying admissions to athletic events. It doesn't even cost a nickle to see the basketball games.

I thought us pa and Bob would enjoy the enclosed cartoon, it seemed so fitting and proper. It reminded me of the day Bob-Bob spent most of the day making a snow plow to use for making a path out back and then the plow didn't work.

How is our family school teacher getting along in her nice unique quarters? Maybe she will change her mind out teaching school by the time this gets straightened out.

I'm rather anxious to find out how Hazel is getting along. Vera didn't get the flu did she?

Did I tell you that we leave here a week from tomorrow on a two weeks field trip? I know that I go into a Kellogg county but I won't know until that day just what county it will be. It would be nice if I could go out of South Haven with either Watson or Larson at least as far as expenses are concerned. But I guess that is too much to hope for. I'll let you know on Monday night where I am.

I'M off now to do some studying -----
