Dear Shirley

Mon. Night Apr. 26-37

I have been rather slack with my letter writing lately so I thought I would start earlier this time. Elva came out Sat. morning with children (thats curious isnt it; that she brought them) and stayed till Sun noon. Brought mending so I loafed and mended while she and Eleanor did the work. For a long time (you know) I have been intending to go to Aunt Nina's some Sun. morning and stay all day. So Elva took me over right after breakfast. I had thought of spending a long quiet day there but, feeling pretty good, I decided to go to S.S. with her and as Corlan was home and had to be uncle Laurin and Aunt Beile to go with them. We were a bit crowded going. Got back to Pagnino about seven. Stopped and had supper. Reached home about eleven. Not exactly what might be called a restful day for an ailing woman but I enjoyed it. Have felt first rate today. It was so cold and dark this morning thought for once I wouldn't wash and Lo and behold Eva came out with clean clothes. She had taken clothes home yesterday and the funny thing about it I hadn't missed them. They were practicing at Hall this afternoon

I think my arm is a little better.
Maybe if weather ever settles it will improve.
Ashley was home Tuesday night. Was down in this end of State. We drove down to Elvas & while. He got me some pearls and calcium which I agreed to take faithfully.
Janis's birthday. Eleanor got her white shoes.
We three women folks drove to town in the pouring rain Sat afternoon. I am ashamed to say I haven't even made a birthday cake I certainly am slipping.
Eleanor has about decided to put off the wedding until the nineteenth, I think that will be much better. Corlan has lost several lb and pretty nice I think but I would let her do it again.

at of Charles all wrong.

pair too I think, I think I'll go to bed and get warm. good night.

Wed. five P.M. Supper started, will make Bisquit's oven gets hot enough. I sent your shirt today but forgot to put in towels. I don't know how I could be so dumb. Eleanor and Pete over a few minutes last night. The school children had a party for her yesterday Had their mothers, a nice birthday cake, with candles.
A nice lot of presents. Mostly dishes, glass. A very pretty kaipot. She was very pleased as she should be.
I don't know about the children coming for the gift.
Ashley spoke as tho they wouldn't come until the wedding and of course one never knows about the Gabriels nor do they know themselves. Just do as you like.

you like your suit. I'm glad
