Lois,

I wasn't sure my email would get through, either. I just addressed it to mersoffice@mersofmich.com. And sent copies to all the board members, using the addresses on the MERS website (3 of which were invalid). Helen already let me know that it did get through.

This so much fun. I'm planning to create a website for inside dope about MERS, but Carol has made me promise to talk to an attorney first to make sure we don't get sued and financially destroyed.

I will let Peter know about lunch Wednesday. I'll be there. My schedule is completely open.

I don't know that Shirley has email. She has a computer, but may not have Internet access. She's not technically proficient.

I did not know that Anne was out. She will be enraged. To have someone do this without her being able to do something about it may drive her over the edge. She likes to have total control over what is broadcast inside and outside MERS. That's why she deplores "gossip".
