

October 10, 2006

Dear Tom,

The Lance Armstrong bio should be interesting. Thanks. No, Ralston's book didn't get me interested in Utah. It was the trip I took to Arizona and Utah a few years ago with friend Alan Jansen. I got a taste of the red rock canyons. I leave Saturday morning.

I haven't added to my photo portfolio, but I should be able to get some neat pictures on the trip. It will be a test of my new digital camera. As it turned out, I didn't participate in that REO Town art show. I was all ready, but it was rainy in the morning and I don't have a tent. Besides, rainy days keep the customers away.

What's going on with you? Has Witni had her operation?

Love, Dad