Chuck,

I wrote an account of our trip and put it on my website, www.steveharryssite.com. I have included many of your photos. If that is not OK with you, let me know and I will remove them. I added them just last night, and this site is known only to friends and relatives. It is not a commercial site. In the account, I give you credit for each of your photos.

I had many of the same pictures, but often yours were better.
