

June 27, 2007

Carol and Lois,

Good news. Eleanore didn't need the pacemaker after all. The doctor decided that the slow heartbeat was a side effect of the eye drops she takes for glaucoma. Her heart is now beating normally and she is back at her apartment.

Steve