

November 5, 2007

Definitely for amusement. I'll bring it next time we get together.

Some thoughts on Florida: We've been doing some research and find that the panhandle is better for summer vacations. It is quite cold in the winter. Average high for February in Destin is 65, low 40. Average high in Clearwater Beach in February is 73, low 52.

So far we haven't come up with anything that looks any better than Clearwater Beach. Part of that is that we are familiar with that area and don't like change. Actually, that is Carol, not me. It will be hard to find new things to do. But there are lots of wild beaches nearby, along with the cities of Tampa and St. Petersburg. Nothing much in the city of Clearwater other than a nice library. Maybe we could take a tour of the Scientology headquarters.

Are you going to bring your cats? If you do, we wouldn't be able to share quarters. Carol's allergies don't seem to be aggravated by your cats, but she's afraid that if we stay in a place that accepts pets, she will have to deal with the allergens that were left by the pets of all the previous guests.

If you don't want to stay an entire month, maybe we could share a month. One couple would go for the first week, then both couples weeks 2 and 3, then the other couple week 4.

Steve