

December 31, 2007

Alan,

Strategy? No, not much. First thing I'd like to do is put a small ad in the State Journal announcing my candidacy and giving my website address. To start with, most of the campaign will be the website. But I did announce it at last night's atheist meeting and I talked to the group for a few minutes. It's a long time to the primary in August.

Steve