MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE

Monday 11:00 A.M.

Dear Cleone,

I just signed up for a job during summer week. I don't have any school from Monday on through the week, so I thought it might be a good thing if I earned a little money. You know it is hard to spend without having any coming back.

Yesterday I went to church with Ducky Hingzo. The German Lutheran church is just as bad or just like the Catholic. I wouldn't want to belong to either one. I saw mother Worshaw at church and also heard that Carl Valentini is working for the college in the faculty department. I don't suppose you know him, do you?

5:30

I was just over to the post office to get some post-cards and I saw the Young Goodriches. They sure are cute little buggers. They are about three or four years old and all back, alive. Clothes on all.

Tues. 11:50 A.M.

Dear Teacher
with high tops on.

I just received your Catalogue, and enjoyed it very much. I sure do like to get letters from you, they are just like you.

I have been wandering around the Cooper all morning looking at exhibits and all kinds and shapes of harness and tractors. This is sure one hell of a day for the farmers, snowing or blowing all the time, and warm at the same time.

Does Edna think she can break the friendship of two fellows that ^{who} have always been together, doing the same tricks on. I won't say any more of aut the postcard that because the post has met post the present, if that makes sense.

I guess I had better close this letter, because I might beat it home, if I don't go mail it. I will see you Friday night.

FROM ONE OF YOUR BEST FRIENDS
HOPING YOU ARE MY BEST.
